LOSSES ENORMOUS

(Associated Press Cable.)

Rome, January 30.—More than 2600 prisoners have been taken by the Italians in their successful attacks upon the Austrian lines on the Asiago plateau, the war office announced today.

The Austrians have been bombarding with extreme violence the positions captured by the Italians. The Italian fire has been powerfully centered on points on the enemy lines.

Extremely heavy losses were suffered by the Austrians, two of their divisions being almost completely wiped out.

Italy is following up her victory over the Austrians on the Asiago plateau and her troops have scored new successes in capturing and holding the important peaks of Col Del Rosso, and Monte Di Val Bella. Both Berlin and Vienna admit the Italian victory.

The Austrians took the two positions December 23rd, just as their pro-longer offensive was reaching the limit of its extension, so that they succeeded in holding them a little more than a month.

The loss means greater difficulty in any attempt they may make to push their way to the Italian plains. The Italians are being reinforced, a Vienna dispatch says.

A Berlin report says the Italians were unsuccessful in the Monte Siesmol region, and suffered heavy losses.

USING IRON HAND

The German government has begun repressive measures as a result of serious strikes among German workmen begun because of dissatisfaction with the progress of the peace negotiations, and Prussian electrical reforms. The arrest of six leaders of the independent socialist party has been ordered and meetings in industrial centers are prohibited. Authorities are said to have imprisoned Adolph Hoffman, independent socialist leader, in the Prussian diet.

Trade union committees, it is said, demanded an answer by the government to the speech of Premier Lloyd George to British trade unions; a statement of German war aims in the west; no further delay of Prussian franchise reforms and direct representation of the working class at the peace negotiations.

AMERICANS KILLED

Two Americans, William Platt of Baltimore, and Richard Fairfield, of New York, both attached to the Red Cross, were killed at Mestre, Italy, Sunday night, by bombs dropped by German raiders. They were the first Americans to die on the Italian front.

Companions of the men say they were killed when they went to give aid to probable victims of the raiders.

In Finland the revolutionists have set up a government of their own.

HOW THE FAYETTE SOLDIERS ENJOYED THEIR CHRISTMAS

Aid in Work of Making the French Children Happy and Forget Their Own Lonesomeness—Four Days' Hike Started Christmas Day—Captain O. E. Hardway Tells of Christmas Abroad

In an installment of his diary, written on Christmas day, Captain O. E. Hardway, commander of the Fayette soldiers now in France, tells of a Christmas tree for the French children and how the men assisted in the work of making others happy.

Captain Hardway says: December 25th. (Christmas Day)—Forgot to write about our Christmas entertainment, held last night. As I was coming from battalion headquarters last night about 6:30, I passed by one of the barracks and noticed that there was a light in it. I wondered what it could mean so I went in and investigated. In the middle was a nice Christmas tree reaching up to the roof, all decorated up and a bunch of Company L and M men working at it, putting Christmas presents on it. There were dolls and little guns and articles of clothing hung all around it. The schoolmistress had taken the 200 francs that had been donated by all the soldiers here and gone to a city and bought something for the children in the village. There are 23 children in all here. They run from 2 or 3 up to about 11 years of age. You never saw children so pleased in your life. Their eyes sparkled just like all children back home about Christmas time. All the folks in the village were there.

The boys had a program made out for their entertainment which every body seemed to enjoy very much. They had singing by quartettes, clog dancing and wrestling matches, and several talks from the officers. Being the ranking officer, the first number on the program was a speech by myself, which I didn't know what I had to make until called upon.

Corporal Polen, who speaks French very fluently, did the interpreting for the benefit of the French people.

When he had finished the French people applauded. I presume for manners sake. I don't know what I said now. Lieutenants Watson and Early also made speeches. The school children sang the French national anthem.

and the soldiers sang America. It was a Christmas that none of us will ever forget.

The French people in this village treat us very nice and it seems that they cannot do enough for us.

The conduct of the men has been ideal, which is very helpful to us in securing good treatment. Went over to Bn. Hq. at about 9 a. m., and looked after the outfits over there. Lt. Beightler is a splendid adjutant and is on the job all the time. Ate my Christmas dinner over at that place. Had turkey of course and it was gotten up in great shape. Was nice and tender. Fourteen officers in all at the table.

There were Campbell Beers, Christenden, Christopher, Smith, Donan, Beightler, Hutchcraft, White, and several others whose names I have forgotten. Got our march orders for another hike this afternoon.

We are to start in the morning for a four-day hike. Have the Bn. all alone with field train all by myself. The others are going a different route. It has been an ideal Christmas day. It snowed some today, and with what was on the ground already it made an ideal Christmas snow.

Tonight is also a fine night it being perfectly clear and bright moonlight. The stars are shining their brightest and with the exception of not being able to be with one's friends it has been an ideal Christmas day clear through. It has been a Christmas never to be forgotten by any of us. Had a letter from Bush yesterday. He says that he is getting along all right.

MISFORTUNES BY THE DROVE COME TO THIS FAMILY

When Otto Hanby, tenant on a farm six miles east of this city, was brought to the Fayette Hospital Tuesday, in a very serious condition as result of an attack of pneumonia, it came to light that the family had been having many misfortunes recently in addition to the grave condition of the breadwinner of the little family.

The Hanby family consists of father, mother and three children. Ten days or two weeks ago Mrs. Hanby's father died. While the Hanby family was attending the funeral the zero weather came and a large stock of canned fruit was entirely destroyed.

Returning home Mrs. Hanby became very ill. While ministering to the wants of his wife, Mr. Hanby became afflicted with pneumonia. In the meantime one of the children became very ill. A physician from this city was called, and made a number of trips, but each time it was necessary to meet the doctor a mile or two from the Hanby home and transport him in buggy to the Hanby home. Realizing the serious situation confronting the family, neighbors have been rendering all assistance possible as the family was facing starvation. Arrangements were made for the transfer of the sick man to the Fayette Hospital, where he is showing some improvement. It was necessary to move him part of the distance on a sled, and an ambulance brought him the remaining distance to the hospital.

The kindness of neighbors is proving the only bright ray penetrating the gloom which surrounds the stricken home.

THRIFT ENCOURAGED BY SAVING STAMPS

One direct result of the War Savings Stamp movement will be the formation of habits of thrift among a large proportion of this country's population and the first branch of business to feel this will be the building and loan association.

Success of the War Savings Stamp movement will operate to increase business and resources of financial institutions of the state, rather than to work toward a curtailment, Director Wolfe explains to the executive committee of the Ohio League. With subscriptions to liberty bonds amounting to $800,000,000 in the fourth federal reserve district—including Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, and parts of Kentucky and West Virginia—all but $150,000,000 of which has been paid, bank resources in this territory have experienced a very fair increase, Director Wolfe explains. This refutes the statement that the War Savings Plan will hurt banking business, he says.

seemed to help me from the start. My stomach is back in fine shape now and I can eat anything I want without bad after effects. I think Tanlac is a great medicine and I recommend it." Get Tanlac today if you are not feeling right. Delay in health matters is dangerous.

TONIGHT----Mary Pickford

—IN—

ROMANCE of THE REDWOODS

A western subject of full-blooded, dramatic action. The New Pickford Vehicle presents "LITTLE MARY" in a role that is entirely different from anything in which she has ever appeared on the screen. The story was written by Mr. DeMille, himself, in collaboration with Jennie MacPherson, and discloses a wealth of typical Pickford incidents of heart appeal.

The settings are of the days of '49, during the time of the big gold rush. Mary Pickford, as Jenny Lawrence, a little New England Miss, journeys to the West in search of her only relative—an uncle. Before she is aware of it she falls in love and as a result becomes enmeshed in serious complications. Various clever twists to the story afford surprises that add greatly to the merit of the picture.

Social and Personal

The household economic department, Mrs. Carey Persinger, chairman had in charge Tuesday night's Browning Club program, which embodied a practical demonstration new and of marked interest. There was an unusually good attendance and success crowned the efforts of the department to present information of practical value in the vortex of today's food problems.

At the request of the Club Mrs. Persinger gave an excellent little introductory talk, explanatory of the purposes of the household economics department. She urged the imperative need that women give attention to this branch of home making and the vital importance in this time of war conservation for more intelligence in systemizing food values and proper preparing of foods. "In this time of war" said Mrs. Persinger "we shall fail unless each home and each family uses every effort to economize food, money and time."

Mrs. Frank M. Kennedy presented a wonderfully prepared paper on "How we may best carry out the Food Administration's Orders." The club women felt much indebted to Mrs. Kennedy for timely suggestions and an immense amount of culled information, together with a number of recipes.

The paper made clear the curbing of our use of meats, wheat, sugar and oils as a patriotic duty—not the mere giving up for ourselves. It is hoped that this paper can later be published in full so that its forceful thought and helpful suggestions would reach a larger number of women than those of the club.

The practical demonstration followed. It was given by Mrs. Lorena Junk and Mrs. Martha Mark. After going carefully into the making of graham bread a bean loaf and a very appetizing concoction of mush with oysters was prepared and served. Each dish was skillfully prepared and the demonstration of unusual interest.

By request Mrs. V. J. Dahl gave a review of a paper on "Corn Meal as a Food and Ways of Using It," which she had presented earlier in the year and which was specially in accord with the evening's study.

There was animated discussion and many suggestions and recipes offered.

RISK BABIES IN GAMBLE WITH DEATH

Columbus, O., January 30. —The thoughtless mother who exposes her baby to measles or whooping cough—"so it will get them and have them over early"—is undertaking a terrific gamble with death, declares the State Department of Health.

The Department cited figures to show that each of these diseases alone has in the past six years killed more Ohio children than the much dreaded scarlet fever, and that the two together caused more deaths than diphtheria.

The death totals for the period of 1911-16 are: whooping cough, 3,953; measles, 2,630; diphtheria, 4,322; scarlet fever, 1,876.

Four-fifths of those who died of whooping cough were babies a year old or younger. Practically all were under five. Three-fourths of the measles victims were under five.

He also declared that each exhibitor of the beautiful work on display in this branch share in the prize.

FLEEING GIRL LASSED FROM HORSE; SWINGS PERILOUSLY AGAINST ROCKS

Indian on Top of Mountain Prevents Motion Picture Heroine's Escape by Thrilling Method.

A thrilling climax is promised in the second episode of "Vengeance and the Woman," the Greater Vitagraph serial which will be seen at the Palace Theater, on Saturday, February 2. Riding for her life down a canyon whose walls rise sheer for one hundred feet on either side, a girl is caught in the noose of a lariat thrown with amazing power and accuracy by an Indian crouched on the top of one of the canyon walls. She is snatched from the saddle and hurled violently against the sides of the cliff. The Indian starts to haul her to the top of the cliff and has drawn her some thirty feet when Black Jack and Red Johnson, outlaw leaders, ride into the canyon. The girl is lowered and the bandits place her on a horse and ride away with her to their rendezvous in a wild mountain pass.

Feats with modern weapons are so common as to be common place, but skill with the primitive weapons of the red man never fails to thrill. Comanche Pete's feat in lassoing Carol Holloway from her horse and hauling her up into space, at the behest of a bandit chief is just one of the "thrillers" which make "Vengeance and the Woman," the most wonderfully absorbing melodrama serial ever screened. William Duncan directs the picture and plays the leading male role, with Miss Holloway as "the woman." Adv.

WITH SELECTS AT BIG CAMP

Boys Becoming Serious as the Time Approaches for Going "Over There." Camp Notes.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, O., January 30.—As the time gets closer for the Ohio and Western Pennsylvania draft troops to go "over there," they are beginning to think more and more of the serious things of life, according to religious workers stationed at the camp.

The nearer the time comes for the men to go into the trenches, the more they seem to want to talk about religious matters. They begin to realize as they get nearer to possible death, that they must be right with their Maker, the Y. M. C. A. secretaries say.

Army Y. M. C. A. records here show that last month 1,475 soldiers entered Y. M. C. A. huts at Camp Sherman to talk with the secretaries about their future life. Before leaving many of the men asked for a Bible. In one month, 2,831 Bibles were distributed in camp by the Y. M. C. A. with the understanding that each Bible would be read every day.

In Bible classes, the attendance has been increasing rapidly. In December alone, 34,553 soldiers attended religious meetings held by the Y. M. C. A.

Camp Sherman is to lose its star basketball player, Private David P. McClure, former Oberlin College basketball star, whose home is in Erie, Penn. McClure was drafted from Oberlin, but has made application for the aviation service and will be transferred soon.

Selective draft soldiers here already have subscribed for more than $183,104,000 of the government's life insurance. In one week more than $33,000,000 was subscribed.

Similar drives are being made in all of the National Army cantonments in the country, and last week Camp Sherman ranked second, according to information received from the War Department at Washington. Camp Lewis, American Lake, Washington, ranked first with more than $200,000,000 Camp Custer, Michigan, ranked third.

GEORGE WALSH

'SMILING' GEORGE WALSH IN A STIRRING PATRIOTIC DRAMA "THE PRIDE OF NEW YORK"

Two young men, one the son of a rich man, the other the son of a poor man, stand side by side in every day life. The poor man's son is working industriously; the rich man's is idle with a leaning toward a gay life. A girl, the daughter of a rich man, owing to conventions and her financial station in life, likes the rich man's son. These same two men are called in the draft. As privates in Uncle Sam's army they are equals. Then it is that industry shows itself and gains its reward. And the girl, now thinking deeply, not according to conventions but according to reason, chooses the better man. It's a play that shows the poor man has a chance and that the rich young man has wasted valuable time, and that his parents have not done right by allowing him to live a worthless life. There is a lesson for every parent, and one for every son, in the picture.

Perhaps you know Geo. Walsh's pictures. If so, you need not be told of the laughable situations George gets into and the thrilling way he gets out of them. He is a big, stirring figure in the battle in the trenches. Judge for yourself if this picture will not furnish you with excellent entertainment. You will find in it beautiful photography, pretty settings.

GAME CANCELLED ANOTHER BOOKED

Owing to the difficulty in obtaining transportation for the team, the Hillsboro Hi-Washington Hi basketball game for Friday night, has been cancelled, and a game has been booked with the fast Wilmington High School on the local floor on the same night.

The athletic association is very fortunate in obtaining a game with the old time rivals of the blue and white at so late an hour.

The girls of two of their class teams, probably the Juniors and Seniors, will have an opportunity to demonstrate their skill in an inter-class game, which will take place before the main event of the evening.

LIGHTS ON FOR MAKING REPAIRS

The fact that the street lights were turned on for sometime Wednesday morning aroused interest as to why the lights were burning, and developed that certain repairs were being made and the lights were burning so that the repairmen could immediately locate the "dead" lamps and circuits. The weather conditions have been such that repairs of this nature could not be made at night, as ordinarily done, it is explained. No additional coal was used for the lights, it was stated.

BARN BURNS

The barn of "Dynamite" Sam Davis, on N. North Street, burned nearly to the ground Monday night before the fire department reached the scene of the fire, they made speedy work of extinguishing what blaze was left.

Great difficulty was experienced in running the big truck over the snow-packed streets, but the round trip was made without serious mishap.

PENSION INCREASED

Thomas M. Jarnagin living on the Jeffersonville pike, member of Company A, Second Ohio Heavy Artillery, has been notified by the United States Pension Bureau that his application for increase of pension, filed by John T. Oatneal, has been granted, beginning December 27, 1916, at $30 per month.

CRIED HERSELF ALMOST SICK OVER "POPPY"

"In my career before the camera I have never experienced such a fascinated interest in a character as I have felt for that pathetic little child of destiny, Poppy, the heroine of Cynthia Stockley's famous book," said Miss Noma Talmadge yesterday in talking about her latest Selznick-Picture, "Poppy."

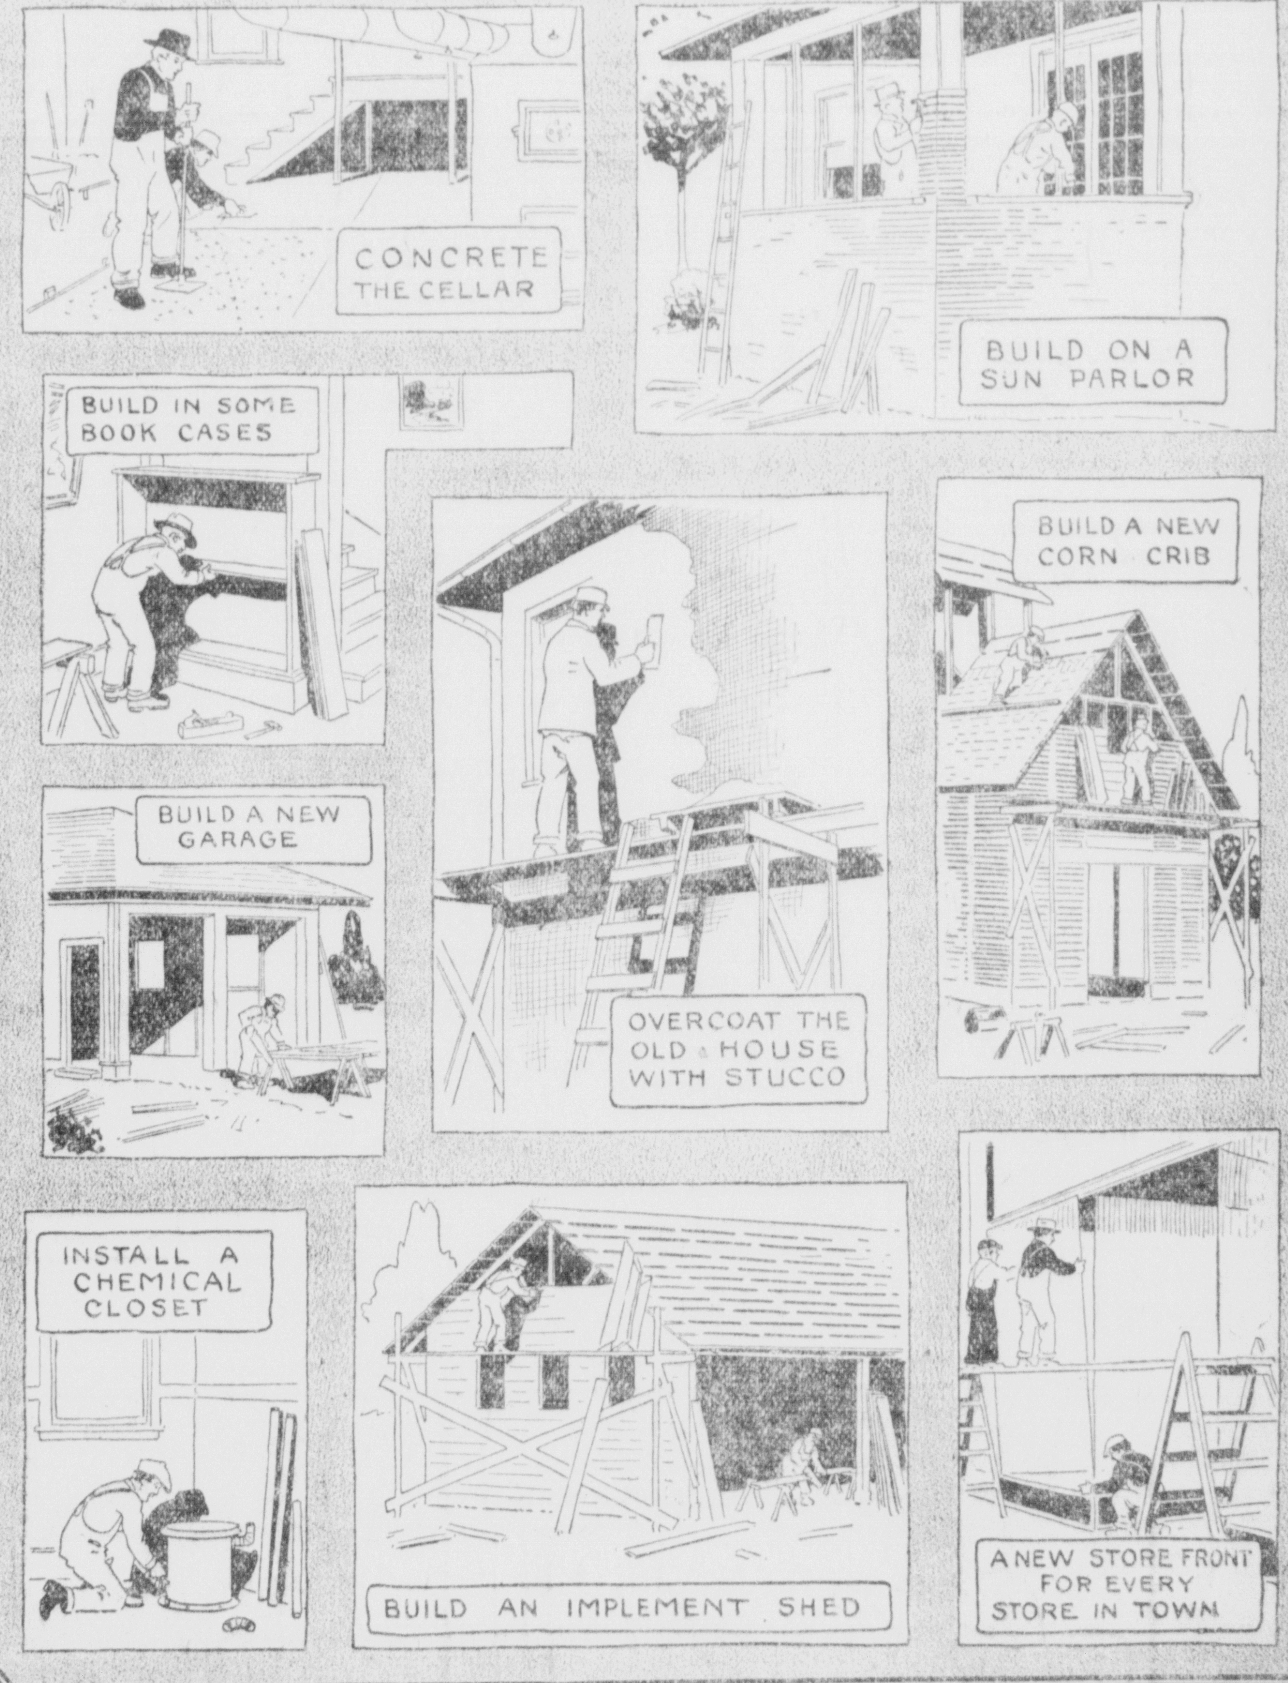

"When I first read the book I did what every other girl has done—cried myself almost sick," continued Miss Talmadge, "but it wasn't until I got down to studying in dead earnest for screen purposes that I appreciated what a wonderful creature the novelist had conceived. The more I studied Poppy the more I admired the breadth of understanding of the author. She has penetrated to the very depths of a woman's soul and employed material there obtained in a manner that is positively awe-inspiring."

"It has been said that the whole world has wept over the disappointments and disasters that overtook Poppy, making her life so miserable before attaining happiness through her wonderful love. I guess that isn't so far from being literally true. If there ever was a woman who went through fire and brimstone for the sake of a love, that woman was Poppy and while this particular Poppy exists only as a figure of fiction her troubles appeal so vividly to the imagination, thanks to the magic pen of Cynthia Stockley, that one forgets her fictional origin, and accepts her as a reality. One pictures so readily a flesh and blood Poppy in the same circumstances suffering just as Cynthia Stockley's Poppy did that it is not surprising after all that the child of passionate South Africa has established herself in the affections and hearts of all readers."

"In my characterization of Poppy I have suffered more real anguish and at the same time have been happier than in any role I have ever impersonated. How do I explain this paradox? It is merely the difference between my real self and my assumed role. As Poppy, so beset by abuse, failure and poignant regret that she was almost constantly in the throes of despondency, I felt her emotions, while my individual self was secretly exulting at my good fortune in being cast to play such an interesting character. Then when the final scene came and Poppy's troubles dissolved under the bright rays of understanding and she was restored to the arms of Carson, I experienced a thrill that is simply indescribable."

Double the Supply of Poultry and Eggs in the United States and Increase the Amount of Available Food 1,500,000 Tons

One hundred hens and several hundred chickens on the average farm, rightly managed, can get nearly all their living in spring, summer and fall "from the land." In feeding themselves they will utilize nearly all the waste grain, and consume great quantities of weeds, wood seeds and destructive insects.

One hundred hens and a few hundred chicks can turn a lot regarded as an expert in picking corn for seed, states that this year he will not have sufficient seed corn to plant his own acreage, unless some of his corn gives him a decided surprise.

Mr. Russert declares that he neglected to pick out a goodly supply for seed, and that since the intensely cold weather has come on the corn in the shock, that he believes none of the corn in the shock will be of any use as seed corn.

The farmers all over Fayette county are becoming thoroughly aroused to the coming seed corn shortage, and are beginning a hurried search for seed that will grow.

At the present time the state is conducting tests in this county that may bring some seed corn to light, or may show that there is very little seed available.

Farmers who have some of the 1916 crop left are beginning to fall back upon the old corn for seed, and making tests of it to be sure that their corn will grow.

DIVORCE WANTED FROM ABSENT WIFE

In the Franklin county common pleas court Thurman H. Spurlock has filed action for divorce from Mary E. Spurlock, on the grounds of desertion and gross neglect of duty.

The plaintiff claims that they were married in this city Sept. 15, 1915 and have no children; that on Jan. 6th, 1918 the defendant deserted him and announced that she would no longer live with him. He declares that several days prior to the desertion the plaintiff was ill and confined to his room, but defendant, who resides in this county, refused to minister to his wants. Attorney Chas. T. Warner represents the plaintiff.

Ser vice was made on the defendant by Sheriff Henry W. Jones, of this county.

PUMP GIVES OUT B. & O. HARD HIT

When the pump at the B. & O. pumping station furnishing water for the big tank near the Union Station, broke down Tuesday afternoon, the big tank was soon drained and then it became necessary for some speedy work to relieve the situation.

The Pennsylvania railroad came to the rescue by agreeing to furnish a large amount of water from its tanks, and this afforded relief until about two o'clock Wednesday morning when the broken pump was repaired.
